LIST KEY:

- * Highly Recommended
Family Films intended for a family audience
Adult Films intended for an adult audience

Every movie on this list is G or PG and has zero sex and minimal sensuality.

The goal in creating this list was threefold, to provide you with:

- Tons of fairly clean movies
- Films that succeed in what they are trying to do, so that adults will enjoy them
- A go-to checklist for family movie night
- Obscure and classic movies from other decades that you might overlook
- Clean movies that grownups and older teens can appreciate

Bonus: The Genius Slapstick of M. Hulot

As promised, here is the bonus mini-list from the comedic genius Jaques Tati.

Tati's famous character, M. Hulot, is the epitome of classic slapstick creatively done. Each of the films below, though technically in French, feature very little spoken word; so little, in fact, they're nearly silent films. Silly enough for kids and intelligent enough for adults, these are memorable movies that everyone in the family will enjoy.

- ❑ M. Hulot's Holiday (1953)
- ❑ Mon Oncle (1958)
- ❑ Playtime (1967)
- ❑ Traffic (1971)
- ❑ The Illusionist (2010 animated film based on Tati's screenplay)

Not sure where to start?

Five hundred titles (give or take) can be a bit overwhelming. If you're looking for some good, clean, grownup entertainment, try this much abbreviated list:
